MAYOR DEMARIA WELCOMES MASS. GAMING COMMISSION TO EVERETT

On Tuesday, April 11th, Mayor Carlo DeMaria had the pleasure of welcoming the Access and Opportunity Committee (AOC) and the Massachusetts Gaming Commission to Everett.

Both groups came together to hold a meeting along with Jennie Peterson from Wynn, Jill Lacey, MGC Director of Workforce, Commission Chairman Steve Crosby and Commission Member Bruce Stebbens to discuss the efforts of the gaming licenses and to achieve diversity in the construction workforce and supplier base.

Mayor DeMaria said, "The AOC holds our gaming establishments to the highest standards, and we truly appreciate what they do."

Mayor DeMaria and his administration have and continue to work with the AOC, Wynn Development, and Suffolk Construction in providing more opportunities for minorities and women.

The Mayor believes it is important that we continue to have a shared goal of supporting and encouraging minority and female professions, so that they can pursue careers in jobs and trades.

"I knew at the beginning of this process that it would be fair, open, and transparent," states Mayor DeMaria, "Wynn, the Commission, and AOC have delivered on their promise to the people of Massachusetts with a project that will fully realize the goals of the Expanded Gaming Act."
